IN FAR-OFF ARABIA

The first missionary journey ever made across Arabia from the Persian Gulf to the Arabian Sea in 1936, and a ressumé that medical care including six operations, 4475 treatments, and 3471 calls had been given in the course of the work in a wilderness susceptible to famine, swarmed by locusts, and under the auspices of Dr. S. H. Verbeek, a medical pioneer, as he intimated during his visit to the campus in Bates' representative in Arabia. His work is largely that of a medical mission, but no less impressive is the fact that in the face of many difficulties and dangers the medical staff was able to continue their work without interruption.

Dr. Verbeek has been able to attract many able and dedicated men to his cause, and it is expected that the work will con-continue for many years to come.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

The dedication and determination of the members of the Bates Medical Mission in Arabia is truly inspiring. Their work is not only a testimony to the importance of medical service, but also a demonstration of the human spirit at its best.

Yours truly,

Edward Ridout '39

MUSICAL NOTES

On Friday evening, November 28, the choral society of Bates College, led by the conductor, Dr. William Torrey, presented a program of music in the Abbey Theatre.

The program consisted of a brief selection of songs and hymns, followed by a series of choral selections.

This was an enjoyable evening for all who attended, and it is hoped that similar concerts will be held in the future.

The program included the following selections:

- "The Star-Spangled Banner" by John Stafford

- "Ode to Joy" by Ludwig van Beethoven

- "Nearer, My God, to Thee" by Sarah F. Flower

- "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Julia Ward Howe

- "America" by Francis Scott Key

The performance was well received by the audience, and the quality of the singing was excellent.

The program was concluded with an appreciation speech by the conductor, Dr. Torrey, expressing gratitude for the success of the evening and looking forward to future performances.

Bates Frosh Lose Last Game To Kents Hill

By Eleanor Stuart

The winter season is over. The last basketball game was over and the last hockey game has been played for 1937. Luckily enough the frosh in the winter season didn't make me cry. The last game was played with the Kents Hill Prepsters. The Preps were down 28 points for the last game and played their usual fine game in disguise. Last quarter the Preps were up by five points, but then Bates smoked. At this stage the Preps were down 28 points at the half-time. The Preps came back with the new spirit of victory under the lead of Johnnie B. Such was the game of the Frosh.Luckies were down by 3 points going into the last quarter, but then Bates were up by 28 points. Bates won 35 - 43.

The Frosh are not going to win the Coming year, but they are looking for the next year.
