Veteran Run for Offices Again on Preliminary Ballot for Men's Governing Body

Candidates for the 1938-39 Student Council, the council which will govern the social life of the campus, were announced by Senator Dorman Dohr, chairman of the committee on nominations, on the stage, after the last list had been announced.

The list, drawn up by the executive committee, composed of George B. Saunders, Brookly Lints, and Ray Mock, was read out by the committee chairman.

The nominating committee, composed of Charles Dooley, chairman, Fred Dorman, '39, Richard Gould '40, and Ordin Simms '40, drew up the list to be voted on to the student body.

The total number of candidates to be voted on for the March 11 election will be reduced to five in the event that any of the candidates fail to come down to their candidates to vote for any candidates.
Does Bates Suffer From Suffrage?

When voters don't bother to go to original sources but rather depend on hearsay and relayed propaganda to learn of the relative abilities of the candidates for office, a political unit may be, and often is, suffering from suffrage. Is our campus?

In the nation, where every voter obviously can't go to Franklin D. Roosevelt and think of her, a nice way to attract the voters is to say, "When voters don't bother to go to original sources but rather depend on hearsay and relayed propaganda to learn of the relative abilities of the candidates for office, a political unit may be, and often is, suffering from suffrage. Is our campus?"

The basement of Chase Hall was packed to the doors as John Wilson '40, Maro Lelyveld '40, and Gerry Knowles '41 spoke to the Bobcats about the election. They stressed the importance of getting to know the candidates and making informed decisions. The Bateanila, Press, and the Debate Team all contributed to the discussion, highlighting the need for informed participation in the democratic process.
