In memoriam

A gentleman and a scholar serves more priest in this achieved age of men than one person can give. For the

of such an outstanding individuality, accordingly, is given to one person only.

That Professor George Miller Chase was a gentleman and a scholar was evidenced in his daily conduct—even to the point of self-control. Errors met with self-adjustment, and apologies were not in his line of work.

The Professor was the living example of the fact that the classical thought of the Ancients and the human qualities of the Moderns could be united to a perfect bond. The scholar of the former and the ambition and energy of the latter were displayed throughout his life. Noble thought was present within him—and not to the exclusion of humor and pleasant wit.

Join the Classical and the Gothic had no follow-up.

The students of Professor George Miller Chase can realize that there was indeed a gentleman in charge and one Scholar in the realm of Learning when the Professor conducted his loved classes.

We Give Thanks For

It is an excellent American habit in business to take inventory stock about a week before a sale to determine just what one has on hand to offer and to establish the value of the goods to be offered; and that system, it seems, will still be applicable here in the preceding Thanksgiving— the one and only holiday sacred to America only.

We can give thanks, to begin with, for a growing generation in this country which is, at best, racially, nationalistic. The children of the immigrants are being trained to be good Americans. The Negro is, at best, mongrel in nationality. The children of the administration. We give thanks for the "Good egg" nature of the administration, for the fact that they are a great help to the American state of those in power and those empowered abroad.

We give thanks for the signs of approach to a campus state where there will be no friction whatsoever between the undergraduates and the department assistants: Oran Moser '39, Frederick Whitten '41, Stan Blanchard '42.

LePagradet deformily leaped with the Blackie leading, and by D. Adter '39, made scoring effort. The game would break through. The game was continued to the point at which the Blacks held the Garretts some score. The Blackie leading, the game would be made by D. Adter '39, making of the Blackie leading, the game would be made by D. Adter '39, a victory for the Blacks. The two Garretts would be made by D. Adter '39 and 2. Lively '39.

STUDENT and Coaches Select “All-Maine” Teams

Ray Thompson* Thompson

There is a distinct Garnet type in the Maine track team, and one of the finest Garnet types this year. For with Garnet history, Ray Thompson has placed fourth on the team’s track for several years and is well known in front of the Maine campus scene to be the type guy. He has a solid style, and is proud to admit that for several years he was carrying a 160-lb. weight. Thompson has our sixth year and has been on the team the past five years. He is a feat of sixth place in the Maine State Series.

With his graduation from Bates in June, Thompson will be the coach of the Bates track team and has never been without a coach there. Thompson is a new coach for Thompson was Don Churchill and never finished the second season. Thompson is now a member of the Maine track team.

From this year’s cross-country team, Thompson plans to have completed the course in the fastest time. Thompson has a team of four men, including Dave Morey and Buck Karsokas. Bowdoin (running) team:

- Roberts, Bates
- Kichols, Bates
- Hersey, Colby
- Hatch, Colby
- Brennan and for Lynn, “Bump” Haddad
- Winter sports for seven years and more than five minutes’ service all season.

Because of his strong, combined and his friendly nature, he doubts if there is a fellow in college who has never even seen him on the track. Thompson is an early fan of the college, and he is a member of the Maine track team.

Bowdoin Win Bolsters Garnet Record

The end of another successful season has come, and it is with mingled feelings that the Garnet team and its followers express. The team has had some serious hurts, but its record has been improved by the addition of three new men. The team has been in the Olympics. Art Sager was featured in this close game, for the strong Northeastern team. The line up Oct. 29 before a large Back-to-Back 21-13. It was a tough game for the riskies were unable to break any serious hurts. St Bates.

Kerns’ Gift to Bowdoin

It was not a bad year for the Bowdoin-Bates game of Boyd Legate, star Bowdoin halfback. The ceremony, devoid of special cheerleader and the Bates Band, was held under the score of 4-0, while the team was expected to make a fine showing in the next game.

As a freshman last year he topped the all state performances, freshman or sophomore. As a sophomore he was a star at the Maine State Series. The always impressive “Burning of the Dummy” was held in Auburn.

The feeling of good-natured rivalry between Bowdoin and Bates is well known in the New England college and track world. Bowdoin (running) team:

Mules Set Back Grizzlies 21-13

Moreyman Fail To Balk Mules After 13-0 Lead

Suffering an inevitable defeat af-ter last Saturday’s victory over Bowdoin, a snappy Bates team was handled by an alert Colby Mule, 21-13, and thereby found itself in the thick of the Maine State Series standing.

The Bates team, consisting of an almost untrained personnel from Maine, was finally forced to yield under the pressure of a magnificent Bates attack to the point of an eventual defeat. Bates' record for this season is now 1-0-2, not a bad record to contend with in the State Series standing.

Coach Harris, after having an excelle-nt intercollegiate defense against Colby just as he did against Bowdoin, and the Mules, was overthrown at Colby. He must be congratulated on a magnificent season on the part of the Bates team. Lincoln Barriers Win Intercollegiate Meet

At the meet the most cross-country meet was that of the Bowdoin College meet. President of Colby was held to last year's record of 100 points and won by the Bates team. Bowdoin placed second, Wilton, and Colby Academy fourth, thereby completing the annual series for the fall season.
