Bertocchi Takes Part In Panel Discussion

The Harvard College Political Forum will present a panel discussion of the "Problems of Democracy" at the Inn at Harvard. Bertocchi, who has been a participant in several of the forum's previous forums, will be one of the panelists. Bertocchi, who has been active in campus politics, has been involved in discussions on a wide range of topics, from campus regulations to student rights.

Kendall Emphasizes Personal Contacts In Getting Positions

In FHQ, Eberhardt, a dormitory advisor who is well known for his ability to get students positions, emphasizes the importance of personal contacts. According to Eberhardt, students who are willing to take the initiative and make personal connections are more likely to succeed in getting positions. Eberhardt has been successful in helping students get positions in a variety of areas, from the university to the local community.

Cooperation Between Students, Faculty Is Aim Of Stu-G Head

The recent poll that was taken of the students on our campus has shown that there is a cooperative spirit among the students. The poll revealed that the majority of students feel that there is a cooperative spirit among the students, and that this spirit is important for the success of our campus.

Event of the Week: Two the Same Time!

Two the same time! It's a strange phrase, one that could be applied to two events that are happening at the same time: the World Series and the World Cup. The World Series is a baseball championship game, while the World Cup is a soccer championship game. Both events attract millions of viewers, and they are both held in the same week. It's a remarkable coincidence that two such significant events should be happening simultaneously.

Colleagues Turn To Golf Post-Graduation Sport Vacancy

By CHARLES EVANS, JR.

The figure on college golf is one that many people are familiar with. It is a sport that has taken a great hold and that is becoming more popular every year. The statistics for college golf are quite impressive. It is estimated that 185 students play golf to one who plays baseball, and that 180 students play golf to one who plays football, which is a dramatic increase from the past. The game of golf is not only a sport, but also a valuable tool for mental and physical well-being. It is a sport that is enjoyed by all, and it is a sport that is here to stay.

Alumni News

During recent evening meetings, the Alumni Association has been occupied in planning for the future of the association. The concern seems to be centered on the idea that a sister college may be established. The Alumni Association has been held together by stories of experiences that still influence the character of the college.

The Hookey Association

The Hookey Association has been privy to some interesting events. In April, the Hookey Association purchased the Hookey Association from the Alumni Association of Penn State. The Association was founded in 1934 and has been the proud owner of the Hookey Association ever since.

To Brooks And A New "Student"

Another year, a new student, a new "Student!" In this way, your experience of the annual vacation breaks with new men and new ideas. In this way, it is all the better for the "Student" that it will be disinterestedly accepted at every term bill item that has happened every winter.

If we were to rate our policy for the past year, it would be easy to measure the importance of the "Student" as a means of expression for students, faculty and administration. It serves the entire campus in this way as well as in the capacity of a purveyor of news. Emphasis on listenable-to and editorial policy have been shaped with this duty to its subscribers in mind.

To Brooks Hamilton, good luck! and the inestimable words of advice. Your position as head of a publication represents considerable accomplishment of the college's place on your shoulders an almost disproportionally responsible position.

Your news column must be as balanced as you go down the road in this attic. But the daily call to your daily delivery is not to be lightly weighed as to reflect the carefully reasoned opinion of a representative college student with whom stories or deeds that, believe-it-or-not, may possibly be best appreciated by the average student.

LETTERMEN SELECT CAPTAIN AT SUPPER

The basketball lettermen named Harry Groome and Fred Sutty as their captains for the 1941-42 season. This selection was made at a dinner Friday evening for the members of the present year's squad.

Harry Groome scored with Artie

Boothby to make one of the faculty members look at the scoreboard over in this year. He scored with Groome in his run. He continued his good work when promoted to the varsity. He is considered as a key man to the team.

Coach Spinks then thanked the team for the cooperation and stated that he had given Groome and Boothby the good news of the election to the captaincy.

Groome and Boothby will be the captains of the present year's squad.

One of the things in which the captains will work this season is the improvement of the team's offensive game. Groome and Boothby will work with the coaching staff to provide a better team for next season.

Groome and Boothby have been members of the basketball team for the past two years and have proven themselves to be reliable and dependable leaders. They will serve as good examples for the other members of the team.

The team was given an example of the way in which a team can work when it is properly directed.

SUMMER PROGRAM

ELM STREET

“The play, the thing”, and the director are the three legs of the triumvirate of letters. At Bates, the director establishes a name in this part of the equation. The play does the rest.

While the drama department at Bates is small, it is large enough to excite the interest of four or five senior undergraduates. It is large enough to give an opportunity for growth and to allow the director to develop the community that abounds in small colleges.

The play is the key to the drama department. The director must choose a play, and the play must be directed. The play must be rehearsed, and the rehearsal must be directed. The play must be performed, and the performance must be directed. The director must be a master of all of these things.

The director must be a master of the play, the characters, the script, and the stage. He must be a master of the rehearsal, the performance, and the audience. He must be a master of the art of directing, and he must be a master of the art of living.
