Landmarks Tricky, Co-Ed Aviatrix Finds Out on Flight

By Catherine Wines '41

College authorities have planned a series of tests in the coming semester to determine whether a woman student can make her way through the course of flight training. With all the complications of the war, women have been granted a flying license in England, and the flight tests that are being conducted there have shown that women are as good as men in their ability to fly. As many as 300 women have already been approved as pilots in the service of the United Kingdom. It is expected that women will also be allowed to participate in the flying courses that are being offered at Bates College.

Today it seems that more and more people are going to Chesterfield because the names of the important men in the town are Chesterfield. People smoke Chesterfield and find it cool and pleasant. I don't know about you, but I think they should make sure that they don't make too much noise when they smoke.

For complete smoking satisfaction you can't beat our cigarette pack.
