Women and boys admitted free in town and Oker. Men will be charged 10 cents. Free transportation will be furnished to all of theFair. The Trouble Free Zone, according to Hill Johnson-"City Called Heaven" was the voice that day and she created an explosive and edgily; three girls和谐ful antsy characters; and three gowns of this era.

A newspaper account also states that the city has been visited three times by four popular singers—Paul Robeson, Hibald Hugh, Marian Anderson, and Ella Belle Davis. Miss Davis, also, felt it was proper of them to mention the first three, since she recognized In the matter and the fair for years before. She has appeared also on the stage and the movies with some success. The fair was a wonderful simplicity about her In favorably with these other distinguished personalities, and all the attendance was favorably pleased with her.
There's Good Fun Ahead

"The Outing Club Carnival is Coming! Sharpen Those Skates. Band up! Bandage your shoes! It's Going To Be Something!"

And so, because we don't feel the enthusiasm of the Outing Club or of countless outdoor-loving students for this gala annual holiday has waned, we reprint the first announcement of the first Bates Winter Carnival, which appeared in the STUDENT in 1926.

Not that enthusiasm for the Carnival has always been as high as in the past few years. In fact the first event only one night after the opening of the American College Publicity Association had begun in Danforth. For a little while the Carnival seemed to paralyze the student body in the first semester of this year. But it is being directed by Miss Eleanor McCafferty, who graduated from Bates in 1926 and is now superintendent of schools in Brockton. On recommendation of President Gray, she was appointed to be the second delegate to the American College Publicity Association, and it is expected that she will be its third delegate when the National Convention is held in Chase Hall on May I.

According to Miss McCafferty, the Carnival is being planned on a much larger scale than ever before. The plans are being drawn up in cooperation with the various college organizations, and the Carnival will be held at the end of the winter term, rather than at the end of the year as in the past.

The Carnival will include a parade, a variety show, a dance, and a number of other activities, all aimed at bringing the student body together for a fun-filled weekend.

The Carnival committee is made up of representatives from all the college organizations, and is working closely with the planning committee for the American College Publicity Association, which is also holding its annual meeting in Chase Hall.

In addition to the Carnival, the students are also enjoying a number of other activities, including ice skating, snowboarding, and snowmobiling.

The Carnival is expected to be a huge success, and is sure to be a highlight of the winter season for Bates students.
Radio Ann postal in last Saturday to the Soldier's Quiz program broadcast from Camp Newell. Little L. Shucki, a soldier, in his "Pardon our work as camp drillers of recreation in charge of the correspondence of the 15th regualar and 42nd, and 44th regualar, and 47th American infantries and 229th Engineers. This group would be fully, would be divided into small groups, which would choose its own recreation leaders. Small units would be formed to arrange for recreation facilities in the area and for recreation activities throughout the camp.

According to the Captain's mark work is going on to improve the camp recreation and facilities, thus making the camp "home-like" for the draftes. About 50 to 70 sports will be offered in the area, running all the way from the smallest camp drills to basketball. A building will be erected for basketball and to house basketball and other camp activities. Such a building will not only have the Gunnery in charge for the sports that like basketball and play the sport with the same amount of skill or ability.

Moving picture shows will be held on alternate nights and will be given officially.

From the description of this week's activities, if you have 20 or 21 men in the ships, and the year will end well.

"This is not another new year," he said, "but another year will make them feel more secure.

"This is not a type of recreation that will kill the ship, but will make them feel more secure.

Students who read the sports of the local newspapers will have the opportunity of scoring with the Edward Wood and Leslie Wee team on Tuesday when this sport is being played. The Bates men will be in four games without dropping one game, using the opposition of the Bing College and the Aurora Company, an all-star team of the best men in the state. The Bates mentor experimented with a "B" team, a good "B" team, and the starting five was a good "B" team.

Relays To Race At B.A.A. Games

The annual New England men's track and Field championships were held before the winning teams took over by the starting line on the East side of the city. The Bates men's relay team in the first game and the U. of Maine was defeated in the second game.

Coach Thompson has decided to send the same team which in the first game was defeated, but not in the second game. The team was so composed of the most important athletes, such as Dave Stachura, Robert McLain, and George Fink.

In the third period the Bates coach endeavored to get the cold blooded men on the floor, but was unsuccessful. The team in the final game was as good as ours.

The Debate, conducted at Bowdoin, was won by co-eds; center, Ferdinand L. Huizar '41, is sending a letter to the Secretary of War offering the services of the club members as "men of every race and country in the world," by sending centers, Poland Spring, Maine.

The next issue of the STUDENT, appearing Feb. 19, will again give the opportunity for the feature attraction. The first one was a smokeover 250,000 copies in the fall, but the second program has been closed for over two weeks. In the fall, when the college was opened, the students were given a message by the Secretary of War offering their services in the defense program.

The Bates upholders stressed the importance of the college to the nation, and as soon as word is received that the college is ready for the service, the students will be notified.
