Girls Prepare For New National Defense Work

By Ruth J. Stevens '42

Visiting the headquarters of the Young Women's Christian Association of Maine, last week, I found that they had been working hard on defense, not only in the actual defense of our beloved country, but also in the preparation and training of those who will go into it. The Y.W.C.A. cannot be considered as a club or as a place for recreation, but rather as a work of education and training for citizenship. It is a place where young women can learn the duties of citizenship and the responsibilities of being a member of the community.

At the Y.W.C.A., the girls are taught how to be good citizens, how to be good leaders, and how to be good workers. They are taught how to think and how to act. They are taught how to be good friends, how to be good sisters, and how to be good wives. They are taught how to be good mothers, how to be good teachers, and how to be good doctors. They are taught how to be good bankers, how to be good lawyers, and how to be good doctors. They are taught how to be good engineers, how to be good artists, and how to be good scientists.

Carnet Meets Bowdoin
In Two Exhibitions

First Game Here Saturday; Second There Monday

Work goes on feverishly to play out tomorrow night means a victory for the team. The home team is determined to face the opposing team on the floor of the arena with determination. The Bears from Orono, whom he stopped in January, faces the team this Saturday in a tough battle. The dean of the staff is dependable but has never come quite up to his potential. That ailment has cleared up and Dave is now back in the game.
