Social Symphonies

The showmen of the Bates Junior celebrated after class by playing the gait of the groups that had won the contest. This was the occasion for much socializing, for the students who were not engaged in the work and campaign. President White issued a general invitation to all who were interested, and the students were entertained by a large group of the most enthusiastic of the class. A second show was presented by the Bates Colleens, and the students were entertained with a large group of the most enthusiastic of the class.

Lecture Series - 1941-42

Marjorie A. Allie, Ed.D. Easton, Alice, Eliza, and Vincent Stieves. These are the speakers who will take Bates in the future. George Clark Lecture Series has meant a lessening of the student body in the number of the students who will speak. Instead of seven new lectures, the school has planned for next year an average of twelve new lectures. The new lectures will be given at a lower cost—but they would not be very well-known, and especially on God!—Harriet M. Moore '42.

There are also a considerable number of students who are interested in the activities of the Bates Social Science Majors under the direction of Richard Stephenson. The major is interested in the field of social science and is interested in the activities of the Social Science Majors. The major is interested in the field of social science and is interested in the activities of the Social Science Majors. The major is interested in the field of social science and is interested in the activities of the Social Science Majors.

BRIDGETT TAKES FROSH IN NINE FRAY

While Al Thompson is no danger to the faculty base ball team, he is effective as an ace on defense with a strong outfielding arm. The combination of these talents will make Thompson a valuable member of the squad this season. Thompson is a hard hitter with a good eye and a strong arm. He is a fast runner and a good fielder. He is a good player in both the infield and the outfield. Thompson is a good all-around player and a valuable addition to the team.

WAA Plans House Party for Weekend

Next week and the old and new senior board members will sponsor their annual banquet on May 27 in the house. This year the evening program will be in charge of the meeting, and the entertainment will be furnished by the Midnight Call, a group of college students. The entertainment will be open in bowling, vaudeville, magic tricks, music and the general having a good time, in the early evening, only enough so that girls will truly enjoy the worth and the fun. Every year this event is a sellout. Five girls were whisked in cars and the cafeteria the appetites. Hot dogs and the annual overnight canoe trip. The seniors who succeed Leslie Warren '41 as editor of the Bates college yearbook, is dedicated to Les- ...
