Plans For Betty Bates Competition Are Underway

The contestants for the Betty Bates award, chosen from each house on the basis of good personal grooming, will be judged on May 1.

Each house will present three girls with Randy, Chaney, and the Town Girls contributing five contestants. The Betty Bates Parade, given under the auspices of the W.A.A., has chosen the following committee: Co-chairmen, Winifred Poole and Jean Cutts; publicity, Jean McClanahan; invitations, Arlene Crosson; and properties, Sally Ann Adkiss.

This annual parade is one of the highlights on the W.A.A. calendar. The judges usually consist of the members of the Physical Education department and a few chosen members from the student body.

World Student Service Fund Opens On Campus This Week

"How do you expect us to begin again when the bottom has dropped out?" This cry of a prisoner of war gives a clue to the despair that lays upon men who, perhaps after only a few hours or days of fighting, are taken as prisoners by the enemy and interned for the duration. Those who are trained and eager to serve their countries are immobilized for an indefinite period.

The major problem of a prison camp is one of morale, according to the World Student Service Fund. This organization, a part of the National War Fund, is the channel for American students giving to their fellow students of many countries who are war victims. The war prisoner is protected much more adequately than the refugee, or even than the civilian who is subject to repeated enemy bombing. His treatment is fully regulated in the Geneva Convention of 1929, the only international law universally observed today. This Convention was signed by representatives of 47 nations, including Germany and Japan. Though Japan has never ratified the Convention, she has since Pearl Harbor announced her intention of abiding by it.

"Barbed wire disease" is the name given to that malady that starts as simple listlessness in a man who may stand for hours just staring out through the barbed wire that surrounds his prison camp. Often the trouble ends with complete withdrawal from the life around him, and severe neurosis or psychosis is the final outcome.

"Give us something to do with our minds and hands!" This is the plea that comes to the European committee of the World Student Service Fund, the agency for student war relief which is a part of the National War Fund.

Speech Department Names Speaking Contest Dates

Miss L. Miriam Schaeffer of the Speech Department has announced that June 1st and 2nd are the dates set for the spring production of the Robinson Players. Tryouts are to be held this week to discover the talent available among the men in order to determine which play will be produced.

From the Speech Department also, comes the announcement that the Freshman Extemporaneous Speaking contest will be held on May 7. Two prizes of $25 dollars each will be awarded to the men and women adjudged best speakers.

On May 9, the Senior-Junior Prize Speaking contest will be held. Prizes of $25 and $15 will be awarded winners of first and second places in this competition.

The Oratorical contest will take place on June 5. Awards of $40, $25, and $15 will be given the first, second, and third place winners, respectively.

Prizes are provided for these contests by the Summer Libby Memorial Fund and the Oren Nelson Hilton Fund.

A.A. Inducts New Officers

At Buffet Supper April 26

The annual Women's Athletic Association party will be held on Wednesday evening, April 26, at the Women's Union. Betty Kimball '46 is in charge of the arrangements.

A buffet supper is planned which will be followed by the induction of the new officers. At this time the new senior board is welcomed and the new officers. At this time the new senior board is welcomed and the new board, consisting of the newly-appointed proctors and elected officials, will join with the old board for a dinner party at the Women's Union on Tuesday, April 25.

After the dinner, there will be a business meeting, at which time each of the old members will give a report of the work of the committees of which she has been head. This gives new members an outline of their duties.

Any projects now underway will be turned over to the new board at this time for completion.

Miss Virginia O'Brien is chairman of the party.

Mr. LeMaster Will Address Faculty Round Table Friday

Mr. Joseph E. LeMaster, instructor in history, will speak to the Round Table this Friday evening on "A Westerner Looks at the East". Mr. LeMaster, who is a native of Nebraska, will give some of the early history of the West, emphasizing its liberal complexion and the opportunity of development that still exists.

As a point of interest in describing some of the political connections of this region, he will show a letter written by Abraham Lincoln to Mr. LeMaster's great-grandfather asking him to support the candidate for the presidency. This letter will soon be sent to the Smithsonian Institute along with other historic valuables to be placed on exhibit.

Bates On The Air

Skits will be presented on each of the next two radio programs. The first, on April 26, is being supervised by Robert Dannett, V.12. It will deal with the World Student Service Fund.

On April 27, a cast from Edward Little High School in Auburn will give a skit under the direction of Ethelyn Knight '43, dramatic coach of the high school.
"NEWS YOU CAN'T GET ELSEWHERE"

Perhaps you have noticed the recent addition of PM to the library newspaper rack. Over one hundred students contributed toward the eighteen-week loss of over five thousand dollars; but he has nothing to do with the policy or publication of the paper. His own time is occupied in the publication of the conservative and respected "Chicago Sun". In not having advertising, PM has shaken the dead weight of interest groups and can voice its true convictions without fear of economic pressure. The editors may not always be right, but you can be certain they are sincere in what they say.

There are two outstanding characteristics of PM's news presentation. First of all it does not avoid significant news and developments even though these may antagonize some big interest group or reflect upon some individual. The continuing and fearless condemnation of Hearst is a prime example of its openness. This was the only east coast newspaper that printed news of the House Military Affairs Committee preventing the distribution to the public of the conservative and respected "Chicago Sun". In not having advertising, PM has shaken the dead weight of interest groups and can voice its true convictions without fear of economic pressure. The editors may not always be right, but you can be certain they are sincere in what they say.

The corollary to this treatment of significant news is that it carries a minimum of relatively unimportant news such as society, murders, births, and the sort that emphasizes in general the depravity of mankind. Emphasis is rather on social, political, economic news and pressures. A second striking characteristic is the meticulous treatment of facts. It has no motive for distorting or omitting important facts. The writers are particularly thorough in substantiating their more interesting revelations. In the April 13th copy, which is now in the library, there is a good example of this. There appears a photostat copy of a letter by a high O.W.I. official indicating the intention of the U. S. to enter the International Trade Fair that is to be held in Barcelona, Spain, shortly. This letter was written to Bennett Celf, owner of Random House, requesting some of his Modern Library and Random House books for display at the fair in order to help the U. S. impress the Spaniards, in competition with the Axis. A photostat copy of his signed letter was also printed with the article. This type of documented information appears every week in PM.

There is not a more effective antidote to the kind of distorted interpretation of important happenings about which President Gray warned us in last Friday's chapel, than this paper. Its underlying spirit is accurately expressed by this excoriation from its prospectus:

"We are against people who push other people around, just for the fun of pushing, whether they flourish in this country or abroad. We are against fraud and deceit and greed and cruelty and we will seek to expose their practitioners. We are for people who are kindly and considerate. We respect intelligence, sound accom- plishment, open-mindedness, and religious tolerance. We do not believe that all mankind's problems are now being solved successfully by any existing social order, certainly not our own, and we propose to crusade for those who seek constructively to improve the way men live together. We are Americans and we prefer democracy to any other principle of government."—Allen Sears '46.

Boston Musicale

By GINNY BARNES

While the screen appearance of Frank Sinatra draws crowds of screaming young Bostonians, other musical offerings still manage to attract capacity audiences. If you want to see how the women in the persons of the future will be reactionally, beautifully so, go to "Aliah Be Praised" in which the attractive business girls discard their efficiency for the relaxing Persian drama, and the harem of a Dartmouth man tarred Emir.

Any semblance of plot is nebulous and purely incidental, as somehow a gorgeous lady senator, a male senator from Texas, and numerous cameo-reigns wander into the harem. No one minds because the music is catchy, the girls glamorous, and the singers and dancers are capable. Mary Jane Walsh puts over the major part with a personality that is the audience shouting for more. "What's New In New York", really a grand number, contains a clever satire on a country club. Patricia Morison has the best feminine voice, but her acting could be more convincing. Pittman Corry does some exquisite dancing. The highlight of the performance was the softball game in slow motion that took well-controlled artistry. Hop a cab, and in five minutes you can see Egypt (if you bought your ticket a month in advance)—Egypt as it was written by top box office playwright Lorenz Hart. Yes, we are really attending the Metropolitan Opera Company's presentation of Verdi's "Aida". A perennial favorite, "Aida" took on added life in the hands of the "Met's" stars and well-trained orchestra. Act II was really spectacular with even a brass band on stage. You forgot the graduation connotation of the Triumphal March as you watched the climactic entrance of Radames. Resplendent legions fill the stage with the climactic entrance of Radames, resplendent in white plume and sparkling helmet. Credit should go to the Metropolitan Opera Company for adding another extra to the triumphal scene and for creating the atmosphere of religious beauty in the temple scene. The only "less than the best" factor was the shabby scenery, but the singers soon cast the spell of vocalise omnium over the audience.

Zinka Milanov, playing the title role, combined a clear pleasing voice with an accomplished portrayal of the Ethiopian slave torn between loyalty to her father and homeland and love for Radames, the Egyptian hero. Kurt Baum, though he played his Radames with the conventional oriental gestures, has a strong true tenor doing justice to "Celeste Aida" and "Morir! Si Pura E Bella". The really dynamic star of the performance was Kerstin Thorborg whose Amneris brought out every potentiality of her role. Looking like a king's daughter, she expressed through her powerful contralto and effective acting the spirit of the ancient East.

Dress parade

By BONNIE LAIRD '44

The nice long receiving line, blue birds, Watson's band, gals looking sharp as tacks, everyone saying how nice to have Prexy and Mrs. Prexy at a social affair again, and how popular Lt. Goodwin is, especially as a dancing partner—also Mrs. G. who, unfortunately, was numbered among the missing, how that little red-headed guy, T. H., can handle any situation—thanks for the nice intro. at the formal, Tom! (and that goes for Dick, too). Numerous couples left early for dinner at the Diner, or they went to the movies. Then rain and more of same.

Gee, fellas, you missed a good burn Saturday night at Ye Olde Quality Shoppe. Riding the orange beetle downtown when sniff, sniff? "Hey, Carolynn, smells like a fire—it IS a fire!" Smoke and flames, FIVE fire engines.

More coeds with diamonds this week... Carly White and Betty (Widge) Widger. Barbie Scott hopped off to Boston to spend the month of April with husband, ENSIGN Bob Scott. Gabby Deering and Al Fish, now commissioned and looking very officer-like—seen walking around campus with their best gals. Joe Dow, the man with the voice and a pocket full of pennies from a certain trip on the Main, Central R. R. line, showed up just in time for the Prom and Dance.

Oh, oh, Jack's falling asleep again that 12 o'clock per was JUST TOO MUCH for you, kid.

Has someone got a nice warm jacket? My women are done up in moh-dolls and me with only spring stuff. Optimistic, wasn't? It would seem, come to my aid!

Chapel Quotes

On Thursday, Josa Godoy, a representative of the Pan-American Society of Boston, Massachusetts, spoke in chapel. In referring to the two scholarships granted by the college for Latin-American students, he said he did not know enough about each other, and that he having South American students come to this country a friendship between the Americas would be more intimate. And this being a sching rival of Ayla who yet could be overcome with sincere love of Radames. Seeing the "Met" is the way to enjoy opera, and left that capacious crowds will convince the man to this country a friendship between the Americas would be more intimate.
Delegates Attend Conference At Vermont

By Ray Reilly '45
Claire Munson and Virginia O'Brien '45 attended the annual conference of the New England branch of the Women's Student Government Association of Coeducational Colleges and Universities of the United States at the University of Vermont last weekend.
The nine colleges represented were Colby, Bates, University of Maine, Massachusetts State, Middlebury, University of New Hampshire, Rhode Island, State University of Connecticut, and University of Vermont. Delegates were housed at the Delta Psi House.

"Acceleration-Atmosphere-Weather" was the theme of this year's conference. Group discussions held Saturday morning considered topics of common interest such as: social problems, organized war activity, educational attitude, and strengthening of Student Government. Social highlights of the conference included a banquet held Friday evening, a tea Saturday afternoon, and a coffee hour at the University's Student Lounge Saturday night.

Lilac Day, an annual festival at the University of Vermont, was a colorful occasion for the spectators. A lively dog named Timmie, a lively sailor mentioned earlier was that he might come to Lewiston for a little peace and quiet. Guess who said, "The quiet might be a little hard to find." I don't think that Executive Officer Lt. (j.g.) Frank Goodwin needs any more introduction than that. As a matter of fact, it's pretty hard to describe Mr. Goodwin without the use of the humble apologies I wrote to the disillusioned sailor. Above all, I don't want people to think that my out-layde sentiments represent the general attitude of the V-12 unit. One of the wishes of the aroused sailor mentioned earlier was that he might come to Lewiston for a little peace and quiet."

Louis Fischer Climates Chase Lecture Series
Louis Fischer, "The Nation's" correspondent to Russia, climax ed this season's lecture series. Speaking on "The Ever-Changing Russia," Mr. Fischer delivered a very stimulating and informative lecture.

In his characterization of the change that has come over the Soviet Union he said that the trend has been away from the international Pacific-Pan-Slav order coupled with a new coat of militarism.

Later in speaking of Russia's position in the post-war set-up, Mr. Fischer said that she will naturally want the contiguous territories already claimed so as to insure security. This, he claims, will not make for security, nor will it mean anything in the air war and the only safety lies in limiting the causes for war and in developing a good neighbor policy so that Russia will have nothing to fear. In this movement, said Mr. Fischer, "the strength to lend, not to dominate."

Baseball Team Meets Bowdoin Nine Today
In spite of the contrary evidence of thermometer and barometer, the arrival of spring and the subsequent turning of men's fancies to spring sports, has been duly noted, as practice for both baseball and track got under way after the Easter recess.
The outdoor track season is holding its practice schedule in spite of the condition of the outdoor oval in hardly encouraging to regular attendance. The team is further handicapped by the fact that many of last semester's graduates have been lost as a result of graduation, transfer, or because they are out for baseball. However, Coach Ray Thompson is depending upon the small remaining nucleus of last semester's team, and regular practice with the new candidates to build up a winning team for our first meet on April 29, with Bowdoin.

This afternoon marks the opening of the Bates baseball season with a game against Bowdoin at Brunswick. The present lineup, subject to change throughout the season, as Coach Monte Moore has more opportunity to see all the candidates in action, includes Roy Diefenbach at first base, Bob Rehl at second, Curt Hinkley at short, Joe Flannagan at third, and A. C. Stone behind the plate. The outfield will be selected from Bob Adair, Bill Hennessey, Moe Densmore, Newt Pendleton, and Ray Spruill. A new coat of paint will be applied to the outfields.

Well, lots and lots of postmarks have been floating into campus since we last told you about them, so without much ado we'll let you know what's happening to whom where before we start, though, let's give a big hand to Doc Fisher to whom most of these postmarks have come. He's certainly done a fine job keeping posted to what's going on in the outside world.

From England we hear from Pvt. Colin Sloan '45 and Pvt. Ralph Sylves ter '45, of the engineer corps. Here's some news about the P.O.-addressed follows that might prove interesting.

Debaters Will Participate In Student Congress
Along with 20 other colleges, representatives will take part in the Student Congress at Kingston, R. I., next week. On Friday evening Despina Doukas will represent Great Britain in a speech on plans for peace. On Saturday afternoon, Christine Stillman will introduce a bill for a Universal Service Act; H. Travers Smith will bring up a bill for a Federal Department of Education, and Donald Richter, V12, will introduce another bill.

On Thursday there will be four freshmen debates here with Lewiston High School. The teams will be made up of Ruth McCullough and Laura Steepke, Mary Van Wyck and Frank Sugeno, Lila Kumpumen and Ruth Stillman, Jane Blossom and Madeline Richard. The topic under discussion is to be Reconstituting the League of Nations.
Shirley Stone Meets Officials At Capital

Miss Shirley Stone '45 met the first lady at the White House Saturday. After speaking over the radio Thursday evening about American Relations, she and the five other winners met Vice-President Wallace at the Senate office building, had luncheon at the House of Representatives after Congress had convened, and heard Cordell Hull address the Pan-American Union.

Miss Stone was at the nation's capital from Wednesday to Saturday. This gave her ample time to view the busy capital.

Parker Scores Win Over New-Dorm In Chase Game

Trainees in New Dorm and Parker have been having some torrid basketball games in the last few months. New Dorm seems to be in a one-point-loss rut, losing the second game of this type 55-54 to Parker last Thursday. High-scoring for Parker was varsity star, Russ Burns. Backing him up were Angelosante, Winslow, Ryan, Planagan, and MacIntosh. Keeping New Dorm in the running were "Robbie" Roberts, Hinkley, Harrington, Parsons, Rehl, Niegelsky, and Catler.

In response to this plea, War Prisoners' Aid of the YMCA sends into prison camps by the thousands musical instruments, athletic equipment, material for arts and crafts. The World Student Service Fund's committee, working in close cooperation with War Prisoners' Aid and the International Red Cross, specializes in sending men of student interests books, paper and pencils so that they may continue their studies which may have been interrupted when their country went to war.

In response to these pleas the LEAST we can do is give a dollar and pledge a dollar in our own W.S.S.P. drive which is under way on campus this week. If everyone does his part we can raise over $1000. Let's go over the top!

Phi Beta Kappa Elects Eleven Students This Year

The Phi Beta Kappa Society elected to its ranks eleven new members this year, ten seniors and one junior, approximately twelve per cent of the class. The primary basis of the award is scholastic achievement with extra-curricula activities, leadership, and campus citizenship taken into account. The new members are elected by those of the teaching staff who are members.

The Gamma chapter of the Society here is headed by Dr. Fred E. Pomeroy and Dr. Karl S. Woodcock holds the secretariaship. It was started and built up on this campus about twenty years ago by Dr. Arthur Leonard, retired professor of German.

The initiation ceremony for those newly elected will be held some time this semester. The usual banquet will have to be omitted. Those named are: Ervin L. Perkins, John M. Googin, and Christine J. Stillman, all of the class of '44, chosen in December; Virginia Barnes, Edith A. Hale, Gilford Gibbs, Elizabeth E. Kinney, Rita E. Silvera, Virgil P. Wood, Dorothy E. Yates, all of 1944, and Barbara A. Phillips of the class of '45, elected in March.
