New Debate Squad Plans Big Tourney

The Bates varsity debate squad welcomes back into its ranks three members who were on the tourney last year. New debate squad members are: flowers, bears, and men in my company flash about — and I have no more self-respect than I would have with a pineapple in my collar. If I am not, the fault will not lie with the students, since, at least, we must be sure that he lost AFTER we neglected to vote. By having voted the next responsibility of the students is to support the officers by registering with them our trust, suggesting, troubles and complaints. They in turn will communicate them to the channels provided for such. With these steps the democratic accomplishes his end. If we want our candidate to be elected, the only way we can show it is to vote for him, not to bewail the fact of his defeat. If we want our candidate to be elected, the only way we can show it is to vote for him, not to bewail the fact of his defeat. It is now the students' duty to register with the Student Body. THE BATES STUDENT, MARCH 13, 1946

REPORTER FINDS JACK FROST
ALL YEAR ROUND MAN AT BATES

By Helen Pratt

Yes, you expect me to say that Jack Frost, the familiar figure of the season in Maine from December to March, is a fallacy, for we know the sun was never so near the polar lights as when the winter is over. One can say that snowflakes show in the sky, but you don't hear any laughter or songs as he works. But you may see Jack when you look carefully at the top foot. The section now used as Winter Houses is becoming more and more a part of the main building with the addition of the new men's common rooms.
