Students Meet For Vacation Change

At a special chapel to be held during the regular chapel period Tuesday afternoon, April 22, students have an opportunity to vote on two amendments to the Student Government Constitution. The amendments will be announced at the Thanksgiving Exercises of 1947. The second amendment was approved by the administration of the Student Government yesterday's annual fall cabinet.

The final vote on the amendments will be scheduled if it has been positively affirmed by a majority of students. The final vote will be held after classes ending at 1:15 p.m. on Wednesday, April 23, at 7:45 a.m. on November 29.

The proposal is to reaffirm the day that students can use their cars to go home if they desire. One proposal would be added to the Christmas vacation week was used. The final vote Tuesday, April 6, at 7:45 a.m., in C. A. B. Publicity, and Monday, December 1. To affect the final vote in the final vote for the Christmas vacation, students will be able to vote from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m. on November 29.

Dr. Aubrey Speaks Final Vesper Service

In times of stress we can rely on our religious and its reliance on the Christian way of life.

Dr. Aubrey, professor of religion, discussed this subject with the students last night. The discussion was held in the Chapel next Friday morning.

Students going on the retreat will have the opportunity to tour the campus. The group will determine which areas to tour and the time will be spent touring these areas.

The new committee will be responsible for the organization.

The committee will meet regularly throughout the year and will make recommendations to the Student Government Council. The committee will be composed of three members and two non-officers of the campus. The committee will be chosen by the Dean of Students and one student will be a member of the Student Government Council.

The committee will consist of Arthur Bradbury, chairman, Charles Radcliffe, and Burt Hammond. This group will set the dates for the camp and develop the program.

Prowlers, Two-Somes, Grinds—All In Coram

By John Arnerink

"We have more customers than we ever expected," said the owner, "and the new signboard is doing its job. It is here behind the counter where we have the most activity. The old signboard was too small to attract attention."

The store is a small shop located near the center of town. During the busy hours, the proprietor is often seen bagging groceries or helping customers with their purchases. He is known for his friendly demeanor and willingness to assist customers.

The store is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day of the week. It offers a wide variety of products, including groceries, household items, and personal care products. The store also has a small section of books and magazines.

Overall, the store is a popular destination for locals and visitors alike. Its convenient location and wide selection of products make it a beloved part of the community.
Announces Tennis Hours And Rules

Instructions for the use of the courts on Rand Field have been announced by Miss Lois Mandel, head of the Department of Physical Education for Women. The courts will be available for practice from the time the sun goes down until 8:00 p.m. Monday, April 28, weather permitting.

Hours-Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, 1:30 to 6:30, for the rest of the day, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, 10:30 for the rest of the day, Monday dawn to 6:30.

The courts are kept in Rand ballyhoo and are numbered according to the courts. The court not used is the court that is correspondingly numbered, since there is a difference in the distance between courts. If one is waiting to use the court when someone is playing, the set is to be brought in.

Stone -- Tennis above or their experience, unless they are at all times. Sidle shoes andibers are not approved.

Guest -- Women students are free to invite guests, boys or woums, out of the rules within the ten courts, but the tennis guests are responsible for the behavior of those who accompany them.

Guests are requested not to enter the courts when they are not being used.

Wholesalers' Contest Open To All Students

The National Association of Wholesalers has announced a $150 prize contest for outstanding articles on wholesaling generally, or the selling of garments.

The contest is open to all students interested in the field of wholesaling. The first prize of $100 and 23 additional prizes will be awarded following the closing date of December 31.

At a luncheon given at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City to inaugurate the contest, President Joseph Kolodny, president of the National Association of Wholesalers, pointed out the purpose of the association and the increasing determination of wholesalers to focus public attention on the indispensable role of wholesaling in national distribution.

"We are especialmente interested in attracting the students to our cause in the application for a successful career in the 'wholesale trades,'" said President Kolodny. "We feel many of them will choose this competitive and that this body of students can contribute a host of interesting ideas in this field."

Kolodny also outlined the association's plan for research in wholesaling, including the setting up of a research fellowship in honor of the late president of the National Association of Wholesalers, of New York City.

The judging of the contest will be assigned to a panel of men and women selected by the National Association of Wholesale Trade associations, who will serve in cooperation with the National Association of Wholesalers.
